

Stellar evolutionary models: effects of diffusion

Michaud Georges

Universite de Montreal

A review will be presented of the recent results of the effect of atomic diffusion on stellar evolution models for Ap and related stars. When can effects appear on the pre main sequence? When do they disappear during evolution? What constraints do abundance anomalies imply for mass loss, for turbulence? Are there similarities with horizontal branch stars?